

Further Reading and Resources

Marin Clean Energy Website

Includes general information, meeting materials and presentations, as well as studies and reports on the local Marin CCA initiative.

www.marincleanenergy.info

The Cape Light Compact

The Cape Light Compact is a regional energy services organization serving Cape Cod and Martha's Vineyard. The Compact provides competitively priced power as well as an optional "green" power program to approximately 200,000 customers.

<http://www.capelight-compact.org/>

City and County of San Francisco – Economic Impact Report

This report includes the City and County of San Francisco's draft Community Choice Aggregation Implementation Plan and Further Implementation Measures. A statement of intent is also included.

http://www.sfgov.org/site/uploadedfiles/controller/oea/CCA_final.pdf

The Economics of Community Choice Aggregation: The Municipalization of Local Power Acquisition and Production

A report dealing with economic issues surrounding the municipalization of electric power systems and power market issues in the wake of California's 2001 electricity crisis.

<http://www.bayeconfor.org/keypub.html>

The Northeast Ohio Public Energy Council

The Northeast Ohio Public Energy Council provides low cost energy with long-term stability to roughly 600,000 customers in 126 member communities. It is the largest public energy aggregation in the United States.

www.nopecinfo.org

Marin County Community Survey

The 2007 Resident Satisfaction Survey includes information on renewable energy and greenhouse gas emissions. Figures displaying Marin County's residents support for local renewable energy and willingness to pay for it are included on pages 64 & 67. Positions on greenhouse gas emissions are located on page 54.

<http://www.co.marin.ca.us/depts/AD/main/survey.cfm>

San Joaquin Valley Power Authority – Joint Powers Agreement

A document that entered twelve cities and one county into an agreement for participation in the San Joaquin Valley Power Authority community choice aggregation program.

http://www.communitychoice.info/pdf/PA_JPA.pdf

San Joaquin Valley Power Authority – Ordinance

An ordinance of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Kings approving the San Joaquin Valley Power Authority Joint Powers Agreement and authorizing the implementation of a community choice aggregation program in Kings County.

http://www.lemoore.com/agendas/2006/oct17/data/10_17_item_5_3.pdf